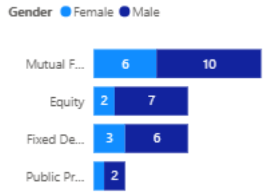
Question 1:

Analyze the preferred investment avenues by gender. Show which investment avenues are most popular among males and females. Identify any differences between the two groups.

Findings



Investment Avenue	Male	Female	Total
Mutual Fund	10	6	16
Equity	7	2	9
Fixed Deposits	6	3	9
Public Provident Fund (PPF)	2	1	3

Key Insights

- Mutual Funds are the most preferred investment avenue for both genders, attracting 16 investors (40% of all respondents).
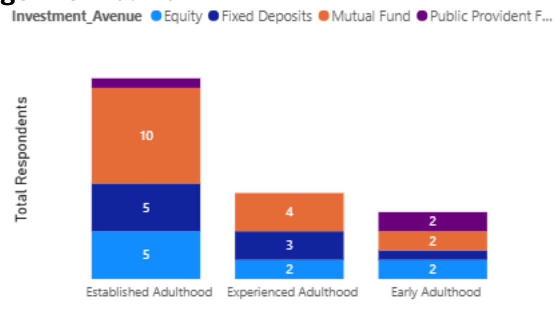
- Male investors demonstrate stronger participation across all investment avenues than female investors.
- Equity investments show the largest gender gap, with 7 males compared to 2 females, indicating a stronger appetite for market-linked investments among men.
- Fixed Deposits remain a popular option for both genders, suggesting continued demand for lower-risk investment products.

Executive Insight: Mutual Funds should remain WealthBridge Advisors' flagship investment offering, supported by gender-specific marketing. Campaigns targeting male investors can emphasize growth and wealth creation, while campaigns for female investors can highlight diversification and long-term financial security.

Question 2: How many individuals gave their investment preferences based on age distribution? Show the count of individuals in each age group and their investment preferences.

Age Distribution



Age Group	Respondents	Percentage
Established Adulthood (26–30)	21	52.5%
Early Adulthood (21–25)	10	25.0%
Experienced Adulthood (31–35)	9	22.5%

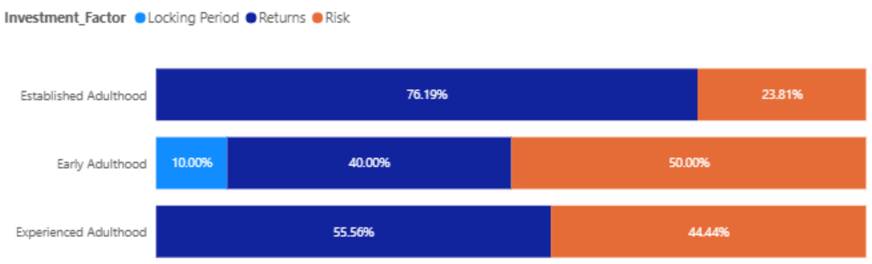
Key Insights

- More than half of all respondents (52.5%) fall within the 26–30 age group, making this the firm's largest potential customer segment.
- The 21–25 segment represents one-quarter of the sample and provides an opportunity to attract younger investors early in their financial journey.
- Investors aged 31–35 account for 22.5%, representing clients with greater financial maturity and likely interest in long-term wealth planning.

Executive Insight: The 26–30 age group should be WealthBridge Advisors' primary target market. This segment offers the greatest opportunity for customer acquisition and long-term relationship building.

Question 3

Identify the primary factors influencing investment decisions across different age groups. Which factors matter most to each age group?



Age Group	Returns	Risk	Locking Period	Primary Factor
Early Adulthood	4	5	1	Risk
Established Adulthood	16	5	0	Returns
Experienced Adulthood	5	4	0	Returns

Key Insights

- Returns are the dominant investment driver for investors aged 26–35.
- Younger investors (21–25) place slightly greater emphasis on Risk, suggesting a more cautious investment approach.
- Locking Period has minimal influence, with only one respondent selecting it.

Executive Insight: Marketing messages should differ by age group:

- 21–25: Emphasize risk management, capital protection, and investment education.
- 26–35: Focus on return potential, portfolio growth, and long-term wealth creation.

Question 4

Show the various primary savings objectives based on different investment durations. How do savings objectives change based on how long people plan to invest?

Investment_Duration	Education	Health Care	Retirement Plan	Total
1-3 years	3	6	9	18
3-5 years		6	13	19
Less than 1 year			2	2
More than 5 years		1		1
Total	3	13	24	40

Key Insights:

- Retirement Planning is the dominant savings objective across nearly all investment durations.
- Investors with a 3–5year horizon show the strongest focus on retirement planning (13 respondents).
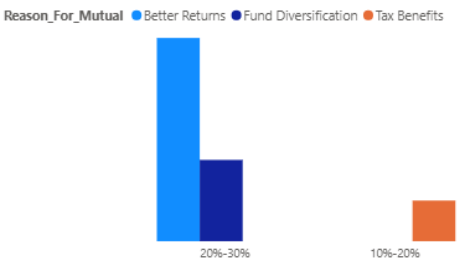
- Health Care is consistently the second most common objective, particularly among medium-term investors.
- Education is a relatively minor savings objective in this survey.

Executive Insight: The findings suggest that WealthBridge Advisors should prioritize retirement-focused investment products, particularly for investors planning to invest for 1–5 years.

Question 5

Explore the reasons for investing in mutual funds based on the expected return percentage. Which expected return group is most interested in Better Returns? Which is most interested in Fund Diversification?



Expected Returns	Better Returns	Fund Diversification	Tax Benefits
10%–20%	0	1	2
20%–30%	22	9	1
30%–40%	2	3	0

Key Insights

- Investors expecting 20%–30% returns overwhelmingly prioritize Better Returns, with 22 respondents, making it the strongest motivation in the dataset.
- The same 20%–30% group also records the highest interest in Fund Diversification (9 respondents).
- Investors expecting 10%–20% returns show relatively greater interest in Tax Benefits than in high returns.

Executive Insight: The 20%–30% expected return segment represents WealthBridge Advisors' strongest mutual fund opportunity. Marketing campaigns for this segment should focus on competitive returns supported by diversified portfolios.

Question 6

Relevant KPIs WealthBridge Advisors should track:

KPI	Current Value	Business Value
Total Investors	40	Measures the size of the customer base analysed.
Most Preferred Investment Avenue	Mutual Fund (16 investors)	This Identifies the firm's strongest product opportunity.
Average Investor Age	28 Years (rounded)	Helps tailor products and marketing to the dominant age demographic.
Male Investors	63%	Supports gender-based customer segmentation and campaign planning.
Female Investors	37%	Complements gender distribution analysis and marketing decisions.

Executive Summary of KPIs:

The survey reveals that Mutual Funds are the leading investment choice, attracting 16 investors, while the 26–30 age group forms the largest customer segment. Investor behavior is primarily driven by returns, especially among established and experienced adults, whereas younger investors exhibit greater sensitivity to risk. With 63% of respondents being male, there is an opportunity to grow the female customer base through targeted campaigns emphasizing financial security, diversification, and long-term planning. Collectively, these KPIs provide WealthBridge Advisors with a strong foundation for segmenting clients, refining product offerings, and developing data-driven marketing strategies to expand their client base.
